

Urbanbliss: an oasis of relaxation and rejuvenation in the heart of wine country

In the heart of McMinnville's revitalized Granary District lies a cosmopolitan salon and day spa that is worthy of any large city. Wanda Barker and Mary Reed have converted an aging agricultural warehouse into Urbanbliss, a plush full-service salon and spa facility that offers a full complement of personal services in a luxurious setting. "We felt like McMinnville was ready for something a step above the traditional salon," said Barker. "The wine industry has really put McMinnville on the map and it was the right time for us to grow," she said.

Formerly Professionals Plus, Urbanbliss takes advantage of Barker's extensive hairstyling experience and Reed's credentials as an esthetician or skin specialist. "We noticed that there really wasn't anywhere for people to go in McMinnville for a full range of hair, skin and body treatments," said Reed. "So we stepped in to fill that need," she said.

Urbanbliss offers a large menu of hairstyling services as well as skin and body treatments including facials, microdermabrasion, micro-current, massage, aromatic stone therapy, body wraps and waxing. Patrons may select any single or combination of services, or half-day or full-day packages. "We also offer bridal packages," said Barker. "And we have a full line of men's services," she said.

Barker, Reed and Reed's husband, Todd, a licensed massage therapist, performed much of the building renovation themselves. The 25-foot ceilings in the salon are crowned with massive Douglas fir beams and accented by rich earthy browns and mellow burgundies. The shampoo bar features free-standing Italian shampoo bowls that allow stylists to stand directly behind patrons. The pedicure area offers opulent seating along an elevated bench backed by plump Moroccan pillows and has hammered copper basins below for foot treatments.

Urbanbliss' day spa features private massage rooms along with a wet room, lounge, spacious garden room and a cozy room with a custom-designed stone tub used for mud, algae or essential oil soaks. The spa also offers a waxing room and a sauna.

Urbanbliss is located at 800 NE Eighth Street, Suite 20 in McMinnville's Granary District. Hours are Monday through Friday from X:00 AM to X:00 PM, Saturday from X:00 AM to X:00 PM and Sunday from X:00 AM to X:00 PM. The store phone is (503) 472-3097. The second Monday of each month, Urbanbliss is closed for staff training.
